OUR STORY

It's a combination of talents that starts with Atlantis Founder, Bruce Warner. His striking design vision and rare engineering abilities, are the basis of our reputation and our achievement.

What does refined design mean? It means paring away every inessential detail. It means bringing out the most sophisticated, most elegant lines and forms. And it means designing with years of use in mind.

Engineering and technology? Well, we've never been satisfied with the usual. We like taking things apart, rethinking them, exploring new possibilities, developing new standards of efficiency, making things more robust, better suited to purpose. In short, we like inventing things that work better than all other comparisons.

We've put both strands of thinking into every Atlantis product.

Important too, we have never hurried things to market. We've taken our time to perfect every feature. Atlantis all-in-one tile-over shower systems underwent a full four years of development prior to release. They have now been manufactured for over twenty-five years, and are enjoyed throughout Australasia.
