HISTORICAL REPLICATION SUCCESS

(Ashburton, South Island)

A homestead with a Historic Place Category 2 listing suffered earthquake damage to its ornate Victorian chimney. Due to the home's historical stamp, the chimney required dismantling and rebuilding to its original state.

Leigh Abel Plastering provided Accumen Shapes with detailed templates and photos. Accumen Shapes then replicated each shape on the original chimney including corbels, dados, elliptical top shapes and the large upper moulding.

Leigh Abel Plastering skilfully installed the profiles with precision, resulting in an outstanding replica.
