10 years on and growing!

For Superior Carpentry/Construction Managing Director, Dean O'Reilly, the past 10 years has seen some of the biggest achievements. Starting his company back in 2010, Dean had been building for a local builder for around 7 years and when his then boss decided to take a step back and leave the industry, Dean seized the opportunity to buy all the gear and keep his two fellow work mates busy on the tools. "It was a big step, but one I was totally ready for" says Dean. "I rebranded as Superior Carpentry/Construction and me and the lads got to work building the business up." Ten years on the growth of the business has gone from strength to strength. Currently employing a team of thirteen including 7 qualified builders and 4 apprentices, the time came to get a partner on board so that the business could maintain and grow its superior service and top-quality workmanship to their clients. Having had Chris Cawker as his foreman for the past 4 years, it was natural progression for Chris to take up a shareholder's position. "I knew that Chris was keen for the next step and he is far too valuable and good to be a competitor, so I offered him shares in the company. Thankfully he said yes!" says Dean. Building is not the only thing these two have in common. Both have incredibly supportive wives and young children who have all become great friends. Chris has been building for 15 years and his new role allows him to share in the management of the business. Each with their defining roles, Dean as Managing Director and Chris as Operations Manager, their skill sets complement each other. Dean's focus is dealing more with the clients and subbies, while Chris manages the team and workflow. Both pride themselves on providing bespoke building options for their clients. "It is really important to us that our clients feel that they are part of the process and can choose what they need to make their build as easy as possible. We have a great team that all get on really well, that's why we call ourselves a family. Bringing the younger ones through the apprentice scheme is really rewarding, not only for the individual themselves, but for all of us. We celebrate success and couldn't do what we do without such a good team and the fantastic support from our wives and families" says Dean.
